

LDD 9 Table of contents

List of Contributors	5
Part 1: Endangered languages, endangered knowledge and sustainability	7
Introduction	9
Julia Sallabank
On thin ice: language, culture and environment in the Arctic	14
Lenore A. Grenoble
Re-building language habitats: Connecting language planning and land planning for sustainable futures	35
Christine Schreyer
Social change and language revitalization in the Isle of Man: a post-materialist perspective	58
Gary N. Wilson
Part 2: General papers
Negation in clause linkages	77
Oliver Bond
Aspects of deixis in Cicipu: evidence from real-time video commentary	121
Stuart McGill

On borrowed time? The increase of Bislama loanwords in Bierebo Peter Budd	169
Ontologies in language documentation Steve Pepper	199
Book Review
Speaking of endangered eanguages: issues in revitalization. Reviewed by Julia Sallabank	221

List of Contributors

Oliver Bond
Department of Linguistics,
SOAS
Thornhaugh Street,
Russell Square
London
WC1H 0XG
UK
ob1@soas.ac.uk

Peter Budd
Department of Linguistics,
SOAS
Thornhaugh Street,
Russell Square
London WC1H 0XG
UK
psb@email.com

Lenore Grenoble
Department of Slavic Languages and Literature
Department of Linguistics
University of Chicago
1130 East 59th Street
Chicago, Illinois 60637
USA
grenoble@uchicago.edu

Stuart McGill
Department of Linguistics
SOAS
Thornhaugh Street
Russell Square
London WC1H 0XG
UK
sm112@soas.ac.uk

Steve Pepper
Department of Linguistics and Scandinavian Studies
University of Oslo
Henrik Wergelands hus
Niels Henrik Abels vei 36
0316 Oslo
Norway
pepper.steve@gmail.com

Julia Sallabank
Department of Linguistics,
SOAS
Thornhaugh Street,
Russell Square
London WC1H 0XG
UK
js72@soas.ac.uk

Christine Schreyer
Community, Culture, and Global Studies
University of British Columbia
Okanagan
3333 University Way
Kelowna, BC
Canada
V1V 1V7
christine.schreyer@ubc.ca

Gary N. Wilson
Associate Professor
Department of Political Science
University of Northern British Columbia
3333 University Way
Prince George, British Columbia
Canada, V2N 4Z9
wilson@unbc.ca